Where to eat this Easter

Gather your friends and family this Easter for the very best of the neighbourhood's food and drink. From brunch and Sunday Lunch to Afternoon Tea and Cocktails, we have everything you need for an egg-cellent Easter.

The LaLee at The Cadogan

The LaLee at The Cadogan Hotel,
75 Sloane Street, London SW1X 9SG

Enjoy breakfast favourites and Sunday classics such as 'Rack of Lamb, courgette and sauce vierge' on the new Brunch Menu with a complimentary glass of Rathfinny wine when dining at The LaLee this Easter. Mini hotel guests can also take part in an egg-citing Children's Easter Egg Decorating Workshop with Head Pastry Chef, Pierre or the family Easter Egg Hunt over the weekend.

The Cadogan Arms

298 King's Road, London SW3 5UG

To celebrate the long weekend, The Cadogan Arms are offering their famed Sunday roast on both Sunday as well as the Bank Holiday Monday. Roast longhorn beef rump or shoulder of lamb stuffed with garlic will be available to share with your table, whilst the chef recommends you try the Chocolate fondant with banana ice cream as a delicious alternative to an Easter egg!

Ottolenghi

261 Pavilion Road, London SW1X 0BP

The quintessential Easter treat is the Hot Cross Bun and Verena Lochmuller from the Ottolenghi Test Kitchen and baking aficionado has cracked them. Macerating the fruit mixture in rum and rooibos tea for a few days and then made using an exclusive paste, these hot cross buns are more moist and bouncier than any you will have tried before. Heavy on the fruit and deep in flavour, these are the perfect Easter treat to enjoy toasted with lashings of butter!

The Anya Café

9 Pont Street, London SW1X 9EH

Where better to experience the magic of Easter than at the Anya Café? Enjoy a duo of limited-edition treats including a Hot Cross Bun complete with signature Anya Hindmarch bow (available singly or in a box of four for family enjoyment) and an indulgent, handmade Easter Egg available in dark or milk chocolate with a nesting of small eggs within. We know where our Easter bunny is visiting...

Bluebird

350 King's Road, London SW3 5UU
bluebird-restaurant.com

Bluebird has everything you need for the 'hoppiest' of Easters. Enjoy a cocktail from the new Fever Tree Spring Spritz & G&T menu or grab one on-the-go from the Fever Tree Spritz truck, slinging spritzes from the hatch each day over the Easter Weekend. Visitors can indulge in an exclusive Afternoon Tea, complete with seasonal specials including Mini Hot Cross Buns and Passion Fruit Easter Egg Macaroons with Pistachio whilst little ones embark on the ultimate hunt for a 6ft Easter Bunny designed by award-winning artist, Chris Martin.

Beaverbrook Town House

350 King's Road, London SW3 5UU
bluebird-restaurant.com

Book a table at The Fuji Grill this Easter and complete your meal with their limited-edition surprise dessert – you'll be encouraged to smash your way through the 'Easter Surprise' to discover treats hidden within. And, all hotel guests will receive a bedroom-visit from the in-house Easter Bunny making this a wonderful staycation for all the family.
