A taste of Italia

In celebration of World Pasta Day, here are the finest Italian restaurants to discover across the neighbourhood. From pizza to pasta, here's how to live La Dolce Vita on your doorstep.

Polpo

1 Duke of York Square, London SW3 4LY
020 7730 8900 | polpo.co.uk

Inspired by the traditional b acaris of Venice, enjoy a menu of cicchetti (Venetian tapas) accompanied by tiny tumblers of Campari Spritz. For a more intimate setting, book a table indoors for cosy lighting and small tables, or share your tapas with groups of friends on the buzzy al fresco terrace overlooking the piazza at Duke of York Square (a great people watching spot too!).

La Famiglia

7 Langton St, London SW10 0JL
020 7351 0761 | lafamiglia.co.uk

A friendly spot loved by locals with a simple Tuscan menu that's been the same, we presume, since its opening in 1976. So much so, its founder, Alvaro Maccioni, deemed 'the godfather of Italian chefs', has even been quoted: 'To change a dish from any menu is to change a child in the family.'. The blue and white tiled trattoria has walls lined with black and white photography of rock and roll aristocracy, the service and atmosphere ooze vibrancy and a terrace at the back with electric roof makes an exceptional sun trap on the sunnier days.

Manicomio

83-85 Duke Of York Square, London SW3 4LY
020 7730 3366 | manicomio.co.uk

Offering an elegant and simple Italian menu with a focus on seasonality, Manicomio provides a beautiful environment for lunch and dinner seven days a week. The heated al fresco terrace makes for some of the city's finest people watching, particularly whilst indulging in their homemade pasta or perusing their extensive wine list which, should you wish, their friendly staff will more than happily advise on the best pairing for your palette.

Harry's Dolce Vita

27-31 Basil St, London SW3 1BB
020 3940 1020 | harrysdolcevita.com

Reminiscent of 1950s and 1960s Italian glamour, enjoy seasonal plates from their Italian family-style sharing menu and an extensive drinks list in the form of a grappa trolley, surrounded by Italian starlets and leading men on the wood paneled walls. A special black truffle menu is guaranteed to 'wow', whilst a private dining room coming with its own entrance is perfect for when a little privacy is called for.

Cinquecento

1 Cale St, London SW3 3QT
020 7351 9331 | cinquecentopizzeria.com

Bringing a taste of Napoli to Chelsea, the Pizzaiolo's share their craft in the restaurant's open kitchen, accompanied by a song or two, in the style of the infamous Neapolitan Pizza. Ingredients come from 'Nonna's back garden', we are told, being DOP (Denomination Protected Origin), for example Vesuvian San Marzano tomatoes and stone crushed flour in their 48-hour dough.
