What's on in Chelsea

MUSIC • ART • THEATRE • EXHIBITIONS • FOOD

Sound of the Underground

19 January – 25 February | Royal Court Theatre
royalcourttheatre.com

Expect punk, profanity and a fierce fight about workers' rights as legends of the London Queer club scene take over the Royal Court Theatre. Not your average night, expect an evening that spotlights the underground club culture and questions what it means to get your money's worth on art.

Saatchi Lates – The New Black Vanguard

13 & 20 January | Saatchi Gallery
saatchigallery.com

An opportunity to see The New Black Vanguard after dark – plus, catch five additional incredible exhibitions, complimentary drawing workshops, and an exclusive book signing and talk from Nadine Ijewere, a photographer featured in the exhibition and the first woman of colour to shoot the cover of any Vogue edition.

Snowdrops Tour

26 January | Chelsea Physic Garden
chelseaphysicgarden.co.uk

Herald in spring with a senior member of the Horticulture team for an exclusive tour of the snowdrops and winter plants around the Garden, forming part of the Garden's 350th anniversary year.

20th Century Exhibition

12 January | Clarendon Fine Art
clarendonfineart.com

Discover a curated collection of paintings, drawings and original prints by leading Modern Masters. Featuring works by Pablo Picasso, Joan Miro and David Hockney, amongst many more, it is a celebration of the breadth of creativity that has led these artists to great acclaim across the world.

Still-life course: Victorian Army

21 - 22 January | National Army Museum
nam.ac.uk

Develop your fine art skills with this two-day still life course, led by experts, Ann Witheridge and Toby Gawler, from London Fine Art Studios. This workshop is suitable for all abilities, and will guide you through the creation of a Victorian-themed military still-life.

Fashion, Culture and Design (Looking to and from the Continent)

20 January | V&A
vam.ac.uk

Join Nii Parkes, Khadiha Ibrahim, Zezi Ifore and Foday Dumbuya for an intergenerational conversation that will unpack the journey and transitions of African fashions over the years and Africa's role as a progressive continent, leading the way in areas of fashion, culture and design.

Louise Golbey and Band

25 January | The Pheantry
pizzaexpresslive.com

Join singer-songwriter Louise Golbey for an evening of Soul music. Louise is a sell-out singer at Ronnie Scotts, has performed alongside Paloma Faith, Jessie J and Ed Sheeran and written tracks with Example – only a brief glimpse into the brilliant evening ahead for ticketholders.

Burns Night

25 January 2023

Celebrate the life of Robert Burns, Scotland's national poet, with an evening of merriment in Chelsea. Don your tartan and raise a dram!

Rabbit

195-7 King's Road, London SW3 5EQ
ivychelseagarden.com

Join the team at Rabbit for wee feast. Indulge in homemade baked haggis, scrumptious neeps and tatties with a whisky jus for two to share followed by Cranachan doused in heather honey and sprinkled with raspberries for dessert.

The Cadogan Arms

298 King's Road, London SW3 5UG
020 3148 2630 | thecadoganarms.london

A three-course feast championing the very best of Scottish produce. Enjoy whisky-cured salmon, beremeal Bannock, a special venison and haggis wellington and a raspberry Cranachan to finish. For just £75 a head, celebrations also include two decadent whisky cocktails and a dram of Aberfeldy 12yo.

Calooh Callay

316-318 King's Rd, London SW3 5UH
020 7739 4781 | caloohcallaybar-chelsea.com

Whisky lovers, head to Calooh Callay for an evening of Burns Night cocktails. An exclusive menu of three whisky based cocktails, priced at £14 each, makes for the perfect excuse to don your finest tartan and celebrate Robbie Burns with friends and colleagues. So if you would rather forgo the Haggis, Neeps and Tatties, a Scottish soiree in one of the neighbourhood's finest bars, book your table now.

The Phoenix

83-85 Duke Of York Square, London SW3 4LY
020 7730 3366 | manicomio.co.uk

Celebrate the life and poetry of the great Robbie Burns with a traditional Burns Night supper tucked away in one of the neighbourhood's cosiest corners - complete with individually paired whiskies, a live bagpiper and roaring fire. And for those persevering through Dry January, they have an excellent selection of non-alcoholic drinks to swap your whisky dram for!

Boisdale of Belgravia

15 Eccleston Street, London SW1W 9LX
020 7730 6922 | boisdale.co.uk/belgravia

A Scot's home away from home, Boisdale is offering a truly authentic Burns Night experience. Guests can enjoy a four course meal, accompanied by an address to the haggis and an atmospheric serenading by bagpipers adorned in tartan for the entire week of surrounding the occasion. The star of the show is Blackface Haggis, with neeps, tatties and a dram or two, whilst other menu highlights include Cullen Skink, Oak Smoked Salmon or Pickled Orkney Herrings to start, and Cloutie Dumpling or Cranachan and Shortbread for dessert.
