The Capital's most exciting dates for your diary

Celebrating the life and legacy of Dame Mary Quant, the new mural at Duke of York Square created by world renowned typographic artist, Alan Kitching

STRAWBERRIES & SCREEN

Strawberries & Screen returns to Duke of York Square from 12-14 July, serving up all the action from Wimbledon's Centre Court.

Strawberries & Screen will be back from 12-14 July with every hit, swing and serve from this year's Wimbledon Championships.

Prepare your picnic baskets and grab those blankets to catch the nail-biting action from the Men's Semi-Finals, and both Men's and Women's Singles Finals at Duke of York Square.

Enjoy traditional tennis accompaniments from the pop-up bars on the Square where strawberries and cream will be available in abundance, and for those visiting on Saturday, grab something delicious from the Fine Food Market.

Visitors can pre-book complimentary VIP front-row seats, and a special Strawberries & Screen menu from Vardo delivered directly to your deckchair, with a select number of seats reserved on the day for walk-ins. To check availability, please contact wimbledon@dukeofyorksquare.com.

Due to popular demand, spaces are limited so if you are unsuccessful, please do bring a picnic blanket to watch the action from the green.

ECHO

13-27 July, Royal Court Theatre
royalcourttheatre.com

Iranian playwright Nassim Soleimanpour and director Omar Elerian push the boundaries of Soleimanpour's signature unrehearsed cold reads to the next level. With every show, a new performer will take the stage without a clue of what is going to be asked of them. Unrehearsed and unprepared, the script will become their guide as they journey through Soleimanpour's story. ECHO asks us to confront what it feels like to be an immigrant in time, as much as in space, be sure not to miss this ambitious, magical, and uncompromising production.
