CHELSEA HISTORY FESTIVAL

Brought to you by
CHELSEA
HERITAGE
QUARTER

Sponsored by
CADOGAN

24 - 28 September | Across Chelsea
chelseaheritagequarter.co.uk

Chelsea History Festival returns with a captivating programme of events across the neighbourhood that will see the National Army Museum, Royal Hospital Chelsea and Chelsea Physic Garden come together to celebrate Chelsea's rich heritage and vibrant present.

Immerse yourself in history this autumn through a stellar lineup of walking tours, enlightening talks, family-friendly workshops and performances.

Enjoy 20% off when you book tickets for three or more different events across the festival. Tickets must be purchased in the same transaction and the discount will automatically be applied to your basket.

Walking Tour: Punk Chelsea

24 September | National Army Museum | Tickets £20
chelseaheritagequarter.co.uk

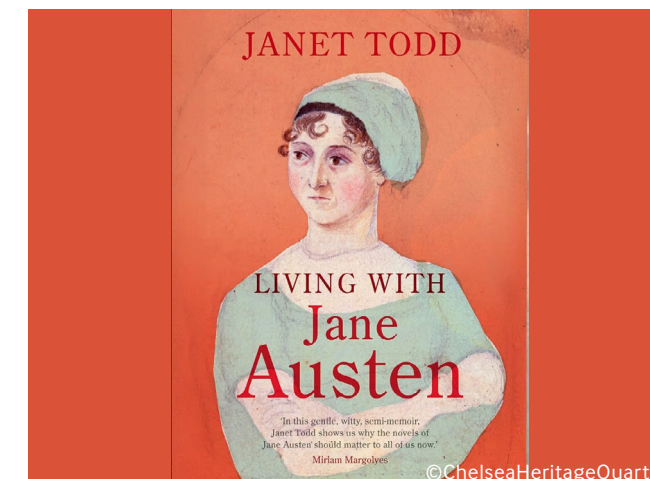

Take a stroll down memory lane – with safety pins and eyeliner. Join expert guide Steven Szymanski for a fascinating walk through Chelsea's punk past, where the King's Road was the beating heart of rebellion. From Vivienne Westwood's infamous boutique to Malcolm McLaren's headquarters, discover how this genteel postcode became a hotbed of counterculture and creative defiance in the 1970s. A must for music lovers and history buffs alike.

Hidden Treasures Tour

27 September | Chelsea Physic Garden | Tickets £15
chelseaheritagequarter.co.uk

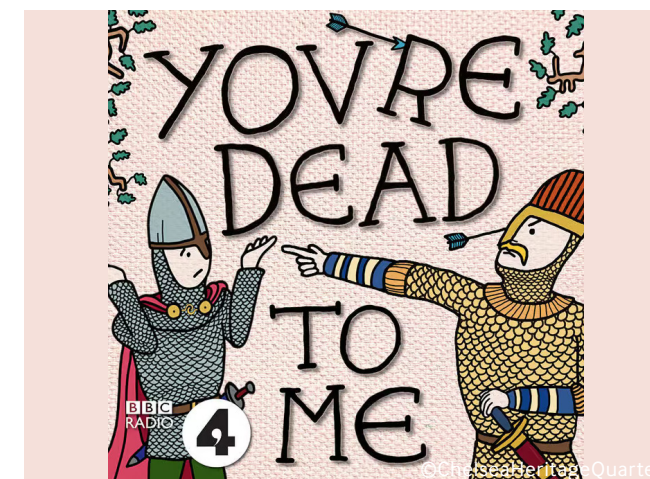

Step behind the scenes of Chelsea Physic Garden on an exclusive historical tour that reveals its lesser-known stories and secret corners. From riverside relics to rare specimens, this intimate walk offers a new perspective on one of London's oldest, and most quietly magical, green spaces. Led by expert staff and volunteers, this is a rare opportunity to uncover the hidden layers of this iconic garden.

Living with Jane Austen

26 September | Royal Hospital Chelsea | Tickets £12
chelseaheritagequarter.co.uk

Acclaimed literary historian Janet Todd reflects on five decades of living alongside Jane Austen's wit, wisdom and enduring relevance. In this intimate talk, she explores how Austen's writing continues to offer gentle guidance on love, patience, humour and the meaning of home. A rare chance to hear from one of the foremost voices in feminist literary scholarship, marking 250 years since Austen's birth.

You're Dead to Me

27 September | National Army Museum | Tickets £15
chelseaheritagequarter.co.uk

Join Greg Jenner, the sharp-witted voice behind the hit podcast You're Dead to Me, for an evening of irreverent, intelligent history. From emperors to entertainers and everything in between, Greg brings the past to life with humour, insight and a dash of pop culture. Perfect for anyone who thinks history should be as fun as it is fascinating.

What's on in Chelsea

MUSIC • ART • THEATRE • EXHIBITIONS • FOOD

Summer Sound Bath

18 August, Chelsea Physic Garden
chelseaphysicgarden.co.uk

Escape the urban pulse in Chelsea's most enchanting secret garden, where ancient wellness practices meet botanical serenity. Lay back and relax as Live Karma Yoga orchestrates a transformative experience using organic instruments - drums, bowls, and voice - creating harmonic healing among centuries-old medicinal plants. This exclusive session provides a rare opportunity for profound restoration in an utterly magical setting.

Royal Photographic Society's 166th Exhibition

5 August - 18 September, Saatchi Gallery
saatchigallery.com

The Royal Photographic Society's prestigious 166th exhibition transforms the Saatchi Gallery into a visual odyssey of contemporary global narratives. This year's curation tackles our most pressing themes - environment, identity, community - through the lens of the world's finest photographers. Representing an unmissable opportunity to witness how visual storytelling continues to shape our understanding of an increasingly complex world, make sure to book your tickets here.

Chelsea Arts Festival Tickets

chelseaartsfestival.com

London's most inspiring new arts and culture festival is coming to Chelsea. Over three days, the Festival will gather artists, performers and storytellers for a dynamic programme featuring dozens of talks, debates, workshops and live performances. The stellar line-up includes Elizabeth Day, William Boyd and Dame Zandra Rhodes, with opening night conversations from national treasures Rupert Everett and Ian McEwan, and further highlights including a live London Theatre Review podcast with breakout star Ambika Mod, and a Comedy Gala at Cadogan Hall starring Sindhu Vee.

Discover the full line-up and book your tickets here.

Ukrainian Freedom Orchestra

29 August, Cadogan Hall
cadoganhall.com

Experience musical resilience at its most profound as Keri-Lynn Wilson conducts this extraordinary ensemble of Ukrainian musicians. From Maxim Kolomiets' haunting Suite from The Mothers of Kherson to Beethoven's triumphant Symphony No. 5, this evening promises an emotionally charged journey through love, loss, and ultimate victory - a performance that transcends concert hall tradition to become something truly transformative.

Marvellous Victorian Medals

19–22 August, National Army Museum
nam.ac.uk

Transform your family's creative calendar with this delightfully hands-on creative workshop inspired by Victorian military honours. Using clay and premium materials, both children and grown-ups will craft their very own commemorative medals worthy of the highest achievement. An elegant fusion of historical appreciation and artistic expression, perfect for families valuing both heritage and creativity.

Deaf Republic

29 August – 13 September, Royal Court Theatre
royalcourttheatre.com

World-renowned theatre company Dead Centre delivers their groundbreaking adaptation of Ilya Kaminsky's acclaimed poetry through theatrical magic, silence and sign. When a deaf boy's death transforms an entire town, this epic modern fable unfolds through BSL, aerial performance, and live cinema, a multi-sensory masterpiece that redefines theatrical boundaries. This Royal Court debut promises to be the season's most talked-about production, where poetry meets revolutionary stagecraft.

Sew a Rara Skirt Workshop

6-8 August, The Fashion School
thefashionschool-uk.com

Fashion your child's summer with three afternoons of creative confidence-building as they master real sewing skills and craft their own twirl-ready rara skirt. This expertly supervised workshop introduces 7-11 year olds to sewing machine techniques in a relaxed, encouraging environment, perfect for both beginners and budding fashion designers. Beyond learning valuable hands-on skills, children will boost their creativity, build lasting friendships, and enjoy precious screen-free time while creating something beautifully wearable and uniquely their own.

See Ollie perform at Summer in Sloane Square on 29 August

Benihana

77 King's Road, SW3 4NX
benihanainternational.com

Benihana is where dinner meets theatre - an electrifying experience for kids and parents alike. Their comic-book themed menu designed for teppanyaki tots doubles as great entertainment, packed with puzzles and quirky facts about Japanese culture. Children up to 12 can choose from tasty teppanyaki favourites like teriyaki chicken, steak, or prawns, served with rice and a fun drink like a "Strawberry Kiss." For an upgrade, swap steamed rice for hibachi fried rice and enjoy the show!

@benihana

Big Easy

332-334 King's Road, SW3 5UR
bigeasy.co.uk

This all-American BBQ joint knows just how to keep the young smiling with its build-your-own-meal approach, making every visit both fun and flexible. The menu fit for 10s and under is packed with hearty favourites, from crispy fish fingers to mac 'n' cheese, and each meal includes a drink and dessert, with the always-popular milk 'n' cookies combo a firm favourite sweet treat. Even better, children eat free until 31 August, so you can treat your little ones to a delicious feast without spending a penny, now that’s a sizzling summer deal.

Bluebird

350 King's Road, SW3 5UU
bluebird-restaurant.co.uk

A Chelsea classic, Bluebird is perfect for parents who want a stylish setting without sacrificing family comfort. The specially designed set menu is a refined take on child-friendly fare, think mini cheeseburgers or mac & cheese with a fresh fruit salad or brownie to finish. With complimentary juice and a sunny courtyard ideal for summer days, this is a go-to for laid-back luxe lunches.

Comptoir Libanais

53-54 Duke of York Square, SW3 4LY
comptoirlibanais.com

For adventurous young palates, Comptoir Libanais offers a colourful gateway to Lebanese cuisine. Their vibrant kids' menu includes cheesy flatbreads, halloumi wraps and mezze platters alongside hommos and fresh veggies. It is ideal for sharing, and the fruity Suso fizz drinks add a summer sparkle. An easy, breezy pit stop after playtime at Duke of York Square.

Pizza Express

The Pheasantry, 152154 King's Road, SW3 4UT
pizzaexpress.com

Always a family favourite, Pizza Express brings Italian comfort to pint-sized patrons with their crowd-pleasing Piccolo menu. For just £8.50, little ones will enjoy three courses including their iconic dough balls, a classic pizza or pasta, and a dessert of chocolate brownie or ice cream sundae, plus, the charming "bambinoccino" for a finishing flourish. For birthdays or special celebrations, the Pizza & Play experience (£14.95 per child) is a hands-on hit, your budding pizza chefs will don mini pizzaiolo hats and dive into a fun, messy pizza-making masterclass, with bottomless squash, party games, and a gelato finale guaranteed to keep them entertained and well fed.

Granger & Co.

237-239 Pavilion Road, SW1X 0BP
grangerandco.com

Granger & Co. brings laid-back Aussie charm to Chelsea, with a menu fit for young foodies that feels both grown-up and gloriously tasty. From fluffy ricotta hotcakes at breakfast to crispy schnitzel and fries after noon, every dish is thoughtfully prepared. Their generous use of fresh, seasonal ingredients makes this a great choice for health conscious families with discerning young foodies.

Sloane Place

60 Lower Sloane Street, SW1W 8BP
sloaneplace.com

Tucked just behind Sloane Square, Sloane Place offers a calm and contemporary space where families can unwind. Youngsters can enjoy a menu that hits all the right notes with fresh lemon sole nuggets, mini beef burgers and tagliatelle topped with Parmesan. Round it off with a rich brownie or homemade ice cream for the perfect low-key summer lunch. A refined yet relaxed option for little foodies-in-the-making.

Sticks’n’Sushi

113-115, King's Road, SW3 4NT
sticksnsushi.com

Introduce your mini foodies to the joy of sushi with Sticks’n’Sushi’s hands-on experience. Their thoughtfully crafted mini-bites menus, featuring sushi, sticks or a bit of both, come with chopsticks for beginners and no wasabi in sight. Watch them flourish into future sushi masters as they leave with a chocolate fish and a smile, especially if they take part in the hands-on sushi-making classes.

The Ivy Chelsea Garden

197 King's Road, SW3 5EQ
theivychelseagarden.com

The Ivy’s garden oasis is a dreamy destination for a special summer meal with the whole family. The children’s menu feels like a treat, from grilled chicken and linguine bolognese to the dazzling chocolate sundae or signature chocolate bombe. With fun drinks like babyccinos and fruity coolers, this is a spot where kids feel part of the party - and grown-ups can still enjoy the glamour.

The Cadogan Arms

298 King's Road, SW3 5UG
cadoganarms.london

A local pub with a polished edge, The Cadogan Arms is as welcoming to families as it is to gastropub fans. Their interactive kids’ menu includes colouring activities and a pub-themed word search, alongside hearty dishes like chicken breast with mash, fish goujons, or a mini Sunday roast. For dessert, daily ice creams or cheese and grapes offer a thoughtful finish. A charming and cosy Chelsea classic.

The Surprise

6 Christchurch Terrace, SW3 4AJ
thesurprise-chelsea.co.uk

Hidden on a quiet Chelsea corner, The Surprise is a stylish neighbourhood pub that delivers big on charm and flavour. Children can choose from proper pub favourites like mini burgers, tomato pasta or Sunday roasts— all served with a smile. For pudding, sticky toffee or scoops of ice cream make for a simple, nostalgic end. It’s a welcoming place for the whole family, whether you’re popping in post-park or gathering for a lazy summer lunch.
