Tommy Emmanuel CGP: Living in the Light Tour

23 & 24 January, 7pm, Cadogan Hall
cadoganhall.com

A Grammy winner and one of only six musicians ever awarded the coveted Certified Guitar Player title by Chet Atkins, Tommy is celebrated worldwide for his extraordinary mastery and influence. Blending pop, jazz, bluegrass, and rock, he performs with the power and precision of a full band, his fingers delivering breathtaking speed, emotion, and artistry. Decades into his career, he continues to electrify audiences, turning every venue into a showcase of pure musical brilliance.

PRIEST: Paper Cut

Until 19 January, Saatchi Gallery
saatchigallery.com

Welcome to the world's messiest (and most delightful) craft table. Artist PRIEST has transformed the gallery into an oversized kids' art zone, with crayons rolling underfoot, glue sticks at the ready and a riot of wobbly, wonderful creations everywhere you look. Expect abandoned popsicle-stick houses, chaotic macaroni "masterpieces," pipe-cleaner people frozen mid-gesture and even a life-size diorama you might accidentally wander into in this immersive installation which turns childhood craft time into a hands-on adventure, uncovering hidden stories of the city, from busy streets and everyday chaos to the funny, messy quirks that make London so lively.

Guess How Much I Love You?

16 January – 21 February, Royal Court Theatre
royalcourttheatre.com

Step into one of the most emotionally charged productions of the season a raw and unforgettable story that unfolds within the walls of a single hospital room. As an expectant couple faces the unthinkable, their future unravels in real time, leading to impossible choices and moments that hold the audience in absolute stillness. With magnetic performances and intimate, immersive direction, the experience is electrifying, pulling you deeper with every beat. Honest, fragile and profoundly moving, this is a piece of theatre that stays with you long after the lights come up and tissues are highly recommended.

Silver Ring Making Workshop

Every Wednesday 7.30pm, Art Play
artplay.co.uk

Unleash your creativity at ArtPlay's sterling silver ring-making workshop. Perfect for beginners, this hands-on class will help you craft a personalised silver ring, from cutting and soldering to shaping, filing, and finishing, and encourage you to experiment with techniques and add textures, resulting in a unique piece you can proudly wear. Plus, optional extras include pizza and wine to make it even more enjoyable.

Tony Kofi & the Organisation Celebrate Lou Donaldson

10th January, 8.00 – 11.00PM, 606 Club
606club.co.uk

Get ready to move with The Organisation, a jazz quartet that fuses soulful grooves, fiery Hammond organ riffs, and post-bop sophistication. Born from guitarist Simon Fernsby's South London sessions in the 2000s, the group came into its own when award-winning saxophonist Tony Kofi joined forces with Pete Cater on drums and Pete Whittaker on organ. Known for their punchy, high-energy performances, they promise a night of jazz that's both exhilarating and unforgettable.

Americans in Chelsea Walking Tour

23 January, 11.30am - 1.30pm, Chelsea Heritage Quarter
chelseaheritagequarter.co.uk

Explore the rich and surprising legacy of Americans who have lived in Chelsea and helped shape its distinctive character. From 19th-century artists inspired by the Thames' dramatic light to actors, writers and creatives drawn to its Bohemian spirit, the neighbourhood has long attracted transatlantic talent. Their influence continues today through a thriving American community and this two-hour walking tour will uncover the lasting American imprint.

Roxy Dunn In Conversation with Natasha Poliszczuk

27 January, 7.15–8.15PM
bookbaruk.com

Fresh from the success of her much-loved debut, Roxy Dunn is back and bringing sharp observations, big feelings and plenty of laughs with her. This special pre-publication event celebrates her new novel, Wants and Needs, a funny, emotionally astute exploration of modern love. Following As Young As This, Roxy returns with a novel full of warmth and honesty, in conversation with journalist and Book(ish) creator Natasha Poliszczuk, in one of the first bookish conversations of the year.

Sunday Roasts: Local Heroes

Sundays in Chelsea are best spent lingering over a long lunch, with piles of roasties and Yorkshire puds. Here's where to find the neighbourhood's best Sunday Roasts.

The Trafalgar

224 - 226 King's Rd, London SW3 5UA
thetrafalgarChelsea.com

The King's Road's first new pub in over a century, The Trafalgar's opening late last year saw it swiftly become one of the neighbourhood's best spots to grab a table. Promising "pints and performances" (a programme of live music and comedy will have you coming back on weekdays too), they are also fast becoming known for their formidable Sunday Roast. Along with piles of all the trimmings, choose from Suffolk Red pork belly and a Garlic, sage and lemon chicken or, for the extra hungry, the Ale-braised Thor hammer which serves four to six. Traditional desserts make for an excellent finale, with the Baby Guinness cake, Sticky toffee pudding or the Hamish Johnston cheese selection rounding off your Sunday feast with perfection.

The Chalk Freehouse

27 Tryon Street, London SW3 3LG
thechalkfreehouse.co.uk

One of Chelsea's newest dining stars with Tom Kerridge at the helm, The Chalk Freehouse promises an impeccable Sunday feast. Choose from 30-day aged rib of beef with bone marrow or Devonshire White chicken served with all the trimmings where the highlight is the stuffed Yorkshire Pudding. A "Chelsea Bun" with boozy fruits and cold vanilla custard makes for the ultimate finale to the perfect Sunday.

Le Petit Beefbar

27 Cale Street, London SW3 3QP
beefbar.com

Your classic roast has had a chic, cosmopolitan makeover inspired by the elegance of Paris. The star of the show? Their signature Wagyu Sunday Roast, tender and perfectly pink, served with a rich jus, crisp roast potatoes and seasonal vegetables, and for those who like a twist, indulgent sides include truffle mash and savoury panettone. For dessert? Their famous French Toast topped with salted caramel sauce and a yogurt ice cream to share.

The Cadogan Arms

298 King's Road, London SW3 5UG
thecadoganarms.london

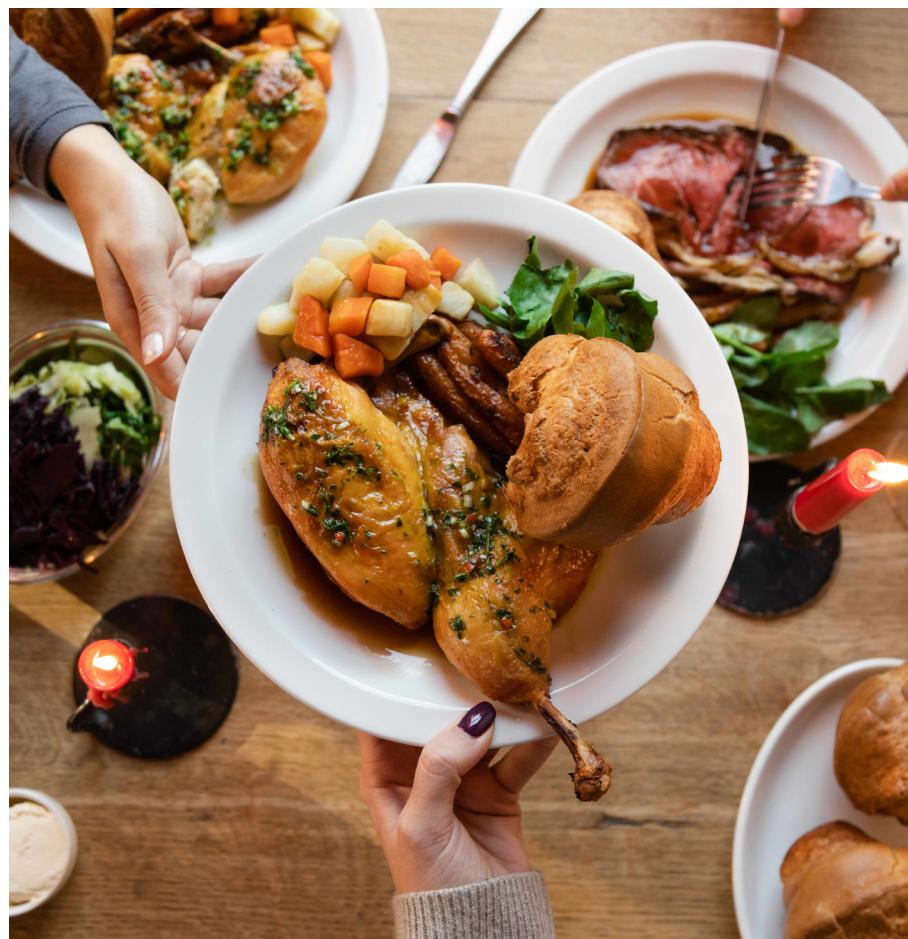

The Roast that influencers and journalists cannot stop talking about. Promising pure theatre, the main heroes include native rump of beef with a bone marrow gravy or chicken with sage and onion stuffing, all served with beef-fat roast potatoes, seasonal greens and Yorkshire puddings that are edible art. And for dessert, their classic apple crumble with custard and sticky toffee pudding make for the perfect sweet finish.

The Surprise

6 Christchurch Terrace, London SW3 4AJ
thesurprise-chelsea.co.uk

This tucked away gem feels like a home-away-from-home for locals, with cosy corners, roaring fires and a buzz no matter the day of the week. The Sunday roast menu is a love letter to comfort, featuring perfectly pink Somerset Meadow lamb or Hereford beef, with crisp roasties, Yorkshire puddings and piles of veg. Pair it with a bold red (their team will be more than happy to make a recommendation) or a cheeky Bloody Mary for the ultimate antidote to the January Blues.

The Pig's Ear

35 Old Church Street, London SW3 5BS
pigsearpub.com

The Gladwin brothers (who you might know as the team behind Rabbit on the King's Road) have brought their farm to fork philosophy for the ultimate roast. Choose from Lyons Hill beef sirloin with horseradish cream, a Tamworth pork chop and apple sauce or Nutbourne leg of lamb, all of which come with piles of crisp roasties, farm vegetables and towering Yorkshire puddings. Their dark chocolate mousse and custard cream tart are only two of the dessert highlights but with everything being so delicious, you are advised to order them all.

Fifty Cheyne

50 Cheyne Walk, London, SW3 5LR
fiftycheyne.com

Spend your Sunday riverside where the menu is designed for indulgence with company. The show-stopping Duke of Beef Wellington (for two to share) is a centrepiece to celebrate, whilst the Cumbrian free-range chicken with toasted bread sauce offers pure comfort, both of which come with crisp roasties, glazed carrots and buttery hispi cabbage. To wash it down? A Blood Mary menu is as bold as their roasts, offering classic spice to inventive twists, providing the perfect Sunday sip.
