Chinese New Year

21 February, Duke of York Square
dukeofyorksquare.com

Chelsea will mark Chinese New Year on Saturday, 21 February 2026, welcoming in the Year of the Horse – the zodiac sign celebrated its spirited energy, confidence and forward momentum - with a special edition of the Duke of York Square Food Market and an afternoon of traditional performances for all ages.

Throughout the day, the Square will come alive with lion dancers, dragon performances and fan dancers sweeping beneath swathes of iconic red lanterns. The weekly Food Market will feature a specially curated selection of additional stalls serving seasonal dishes and Asian-inspired delicacies with face painting for little ones running from midday to 4pm adding to the festive atmosphere.

Good Eye Projects 2026

Until 1 March, Saatchi Gallery
saatchigallery.com

A must-see for art lovers, this vibrant group exhibition celebrates the energy of London's emerging art scene. Featuring artists from the Autumn 2023, Spring 2024 and Summer 2024 residencies, the exhibition spotlights bold new voices shaping contemporary practice today and offers a compelling snapshot of the next generation making their mark.

The Shitheads

6 – 8 February, Royal Court Theatre
royalcourttheatre.com

A gripping world premiere that plunges audiences into the very beginnings of humanity. Set tens of thousands of years ago, this powerful new play explores how love and violence ignite the same instinct for survival. When strangers enter a secluded cave, fragile domestic harmony fractures, with devastating consequences. Raw, urgent and unsettling, the production asks what truly lies at the heart of who we are and how far we'll go when survival is on the line.

Dave O’Higgins monkin’ around quartet

21 February, 606 Club
606club.co.uk

Highly regarded saxophonist Dave O’Higgins has worked with the likes of Frank Sinatra, Ray Charles and Nancy Wilson. Tonight, joined by Sean Fyfe on piano, Luke Fowler on bass and Billy Pod on drums, Dave brings his latest project Monkin’ Around to the Club, a joyful celebration of Thelonious Monk’s timeless themes: swinging, grooving, lyrical and playfully inventive.

Weird Love After Dark

13 February, Chelsea Physic Garden
chelseaphysicgarden.co.uk

On the eve of Valentine’s Day, discover a darker, wilder side of romance with an after-hours adventure through London’s oldest botanic garden. Led by an expert ecologist, this exclusive night walk explores love, attraction and desire as they truly exist in nature, strange, awkward and wonderfully unconventional. Armed with ultraviolet torches, guests will uncover hidden creatures and unexpected courtships, gain rare after-dark access to historic glasshouses, and take part in a playful quiz celebrating nature’s most bizarre love stories.

Valentine's Day

The neighbourhood's top tables are crafting menus that celebrate all things 'love' - from elegant small plates to seasonal flavours, Chelsea promises just the right touch of indulgence for an unforgettable Valentine's Day.

Valentines Day at The Aubrey

66 Knightsbridge, London SW1X 7LA

Because sometimes love deserves opulence with Japanese flair. Sip champagne whilst savouring the chef's sushi platter, Lovers' Chicken Sando and crispy rock squid. For main courses, expect Irish beef with a truffle ponzu, before ending with the Sakura Heart and mango and lemongrass cheesecake promise a decadent finale to your night of romance.

Bluebird

350 King's Road, London SW3 5UU

Bluebird combines glamour with a sense of occasion this Valentine's Day. The £95 menu features a lavish Fruit de Mer sushi and sashimi platter including oysters, tuna and tempura soft shell crab and precedes a 28oz Rib on the bone with grilled tiger prawns or their signature "Prawn and Lobster Toast". A cinnamon-baked apple and pear crumble rounds off an evening that feels both romantic and effortlessly chic.

Ixchel

33H King's Road, London SW3 4LX

One of the King's Road hottest tables, this is Valentine's Day with a Mexican twist. Share Para Pícar favourites with your date before moving on to a pink mole chicken or a wagyu chuck eye and chilmole jus and white truffle. Your evening concludes with a decadent chocolate tamal and roasted corn ice cream – a vibrant, flavour packed celebration of love.

The Trafalgar

224-226 King's Road, London SW3 5UA

The King's Road's first new pub in over 100 years promises a playful twist on Valentine's Day. Instead of 'splitting the G', this time you should split the heart-shaped Baby Guinness cake. Topped with Baileys mascarpone, sharing this rich and indulgent dessert is a sign of true love, especially when paired with Wright Brothers' oysters and a glass of English sparkling wine.

Hans' Bar & Grill

164 Pavilion Road, London SW1X 0AW

Bringing a quiet sense of sophistication to Valentine's Day, treat your loved one to four delicious courses at Hans' Bar & Grill. Start with a butter-poached lobster bisque topped with caviar before moving on to an aged fillet of beef. A playful 'boiled egg and soldiers' course precedes a dark chocolate fondant with strawberry shortbread to share, a sweet ending made for two.

The Ivy Chelsea Garden

197 King's Road, London SW3 5EQ

Amid lush interiors and garden-inspired elegance, begin your celebrations with a glass of perfectly chilled champagne before savouring seared scallops and blackened cod with a delicate miso glaze. Finish on a sweet note with a rose petal parfait, an elegant dessert that is as beautiful as it is indulgent and sure to impress your plus one.

©LedaHotelsLtd2025

2026©GladwinBrothers

The Pig's Ear

35 Old Church Street, London SW3 5BS

The perfect hideaway for a romantic evening where warm, wood-panelled interiors and crackling fireplace set the tone. The menu begins with Jersey oysters and crab ravioli before Sussex beef fillet Rossini arrives with brioche, duck liver and truffle. White chocolate profiteroles provide the sweetest of finishes to your evening and at £68 per person, with an optional wine pairing, it is an intimate experience that feels both comforting and refined.

©LAMIAMAMMALimited

La Mia Mamma

257 King's Road, London SW3 5EL

A night where love is served Italian-style with the Mammams working their magic in the windows of this cosy Chelsea trattoria. Begin with a generous sharing board of regional delicacies before indulging in heart shaped ravioli with braised beef and truffle. Choose between a Swordfish Romance or the Love Boat aubergine creation before finishing with Amore di Mamma, a heartfelt dessert of the day.

©2026AzzurraRestaurant

Azzurra

127-128 Sloane Street, London SW1X 9AS

Bringing coastal romance to Chelsea with a series of Valentine's Day specials that feel like a love letter to the sea. Start with tuna tartare or champagne and strawberry risotto, then share the show-stopping Florentine steak for two. Finish with L'Amore - a raspberry mousse with chocolate and vanilla ice cream – whilst toasting to love with the Gin In Love cocktail, a sparkling mix of gin, strawberry puree, apricot liqueur and champagne.

Art After Dark

3 - 10 February 2026, London, West End
artoflondon.co.uk

Experience London after hours as the city's cultural heart stays up late for a weeklong celebration of art and music. From 3–10 February 2026, Art After Dark transforms evenings into a curated adventure featuring late night gallery openings, large-scale public artworks illuminating the streets, and intimate, one-night-only performances that reward the curious and the spontaneous. Walk from space to space as curators open their doors after hours, encountering bold installations and atmospheric rooms where masterpieces meet moonlight.

Kew Gardens: Orchids

7 February to 8 March 2026,
Richmond, London, TW9 3AE
kew.org

In celebration of the 30th anniversary of the much-loved orchid festival, discover an orchid spectacular, filling their Princess of Wales glasshouse with a dazzling array of orchids and large-scale floral installations. Wander among dragons, lanterns and intricate plant sculptures that bring to life the beauty and wildlife of China.

Tate Modern: African Heritage Tour

7 and 21 February 2026,
Bankside, London SE1 9TG
tate.org.uk

This is your invitation to explore the museum through a richer, more global lens, discovering works shaped by African histories, cultures and creative legacies. Led by expert guides, the tour brings forward stories often left untold, offering deeper insight into both iconic pieces and lesser known treasures. An inspiring way to broaden your cultural understanding and connect with art that continues to influence contemporary practice around the world.

Noel Coward Theatre: Dracula with Cynthia Erivo

3 February - 30 May 2026, Noël Coward Theatre,
85-88 St Martin's Ln, London WC2N 4AU
noelcowardtheatre.co.uk

Cynthia Erivo, acclaimed for her unforgettable performances in Wicked, Harriet, Genius: Aretha and The Color Purple, takes on a breathtaking challenge in Tony Award-nominated adaptor and director Kip Williams' electrifying reimagination of the iconic gothic tale. Transforming herself into all 23 roles, she delivers a mesmerising, pulse-racing tour de force that pushes the boundaries of storytelling and stagecraft.

Courtauld: Seurat and the Sea

13 February - 17 May 2026.

Courtauld Gallery, Somerset House, Strand, London WC2R 0RN
courtauld.ac.uk

In a landmark moment, discover the Gallery's first exhibition dedicated to the seascapes of Georges Seurat. Seldom shown on this scale, Seurat had a tragically brief life, leaving behind limited pieces and this focused presentation marks the first UK display devoted to the artist in nearly three decades. Providing an intimate look at the evolution of his radical, light-soaked style through one of his most evocative motifs, the sea, this is the perfect setting to explore the mind of the pioneering Neo-impressionist, whose innovative technique of placing pure dots of colour side by side transformed the language of modern art.

National Portrait Gallery: Lucian Freud: Drawing into Painting

12 February - 4 May 2026, St. Martin's Pl,
London WC2H 0HE
npg.org.uk

The UK's first exhibition devoted entirely to Freud's works on paper, bringing together an extraordinary selection of drawings, some of which will be shown publicly for the very first time. Celebrated as one of Britain's most influential figurative artists, Freud (1922–2011) became renowned for his unflinching, intensely observed portraits and nudes. His meticulous working methods, technical precision and lifelong dedication to portraying the human form
